To: The Editor-in-Chief of the “Journal of the Society of Biomechanisms Japan”

Title of article: _____

[Code of ethics confirmation*1] In accordance with the spirit of the Helsinki Declaration, written informed consent has been obtained from all the participants for the contents of this manuscript concerning research involving human subjects. Appropriate approval from the affiliated ethics committee, or the agency pursuant to it, has been obtained. In addition, animal experiments have been conducted in accordance with appropriate provisions of each of the affiliated institutions.

[Fraudulent papers] The manuscript does not include fabrication, falsification, or plagiarism. Moreover, a manuscript whose content may be considered the same as the current one has not been concurrently submitted to any other domestic or international journals.

[Copyright confirmation] The text and charts used in the manuscript have been appropriately processed according to copyright law, and there is no unauthorized use of any text or chart that is copyrighted to third parties.

[Copyright attribution] It is agreed that the Society of Biomechanisms Japan will hold the copyright of the manuscript published in the Journal of the Society of Biomechanisms Japan. It is also agreed that any request for license of copyrighted material (including electronic publishing on the internet) from third parties, if deemed appropriate after deliberations by the Board of Directors of the society, will be appropriately processed.

[Copyright permission*2] The authors agree to explicitly reveal the source when the full extent of the content of any other paper published previously by the authors in the journal of this society is used as duplication of copyrighted material in other publications.

[Author’s responsibility] The authors pledge that all the coauthors have been involved in creating the content of the manuscript and the responsibility for the contents rests solely with the authors.
